Two-day Vote Decides Fall Song, Yell Royalty

By DORALD WRIGHT

Finally, after a night of try-outs, two days of voting and several hours of counting and tabulating ballots, Carol Hovey and Dick Millasich were proclaimed head song and cheer leaders.

With 190 votes, Miss Hovey beat out 17 opponents to win this top post in the pom-pom section. Millasich received 256 tallies to place him ahead of his 8 membered competition.

Assisting in the song leading chores are the other four winners plus one alternate, Tessie Christos chalked up 178 votes; Carol Vosika, 161; Maureen Kurland, 144 and Dixie Carnes, 136. Alternate, with 127 marks, is Marlene Brendel.

Old Sport

Song leading duties are no new thing to Miss Hovey; she served as a pom-pom queen last year. A graduate of Van Nuys High, she is majoring in education.

Millasich also is experienced in the field of organizing Monarch rooters. This will be his second year in front of the stands. He claims North Hollywood High as his alma mater and business as his major.

Hollywood Graduate

Education major Miss Christos is filling a song leading post. She is a graduate of Hollywood High School.

Last spring's Fiesta queen Miss Vosika will once again be in the spotlight as she covorts to the music of the Valley band. She is majoring in art and a graduate of Van Nuys High.

Song leader is the new spot for an ex-Fiesta princess, Miss Kurland. An education major, she was graduated from North Hollywood High School.

Long String

Associated Students' vice president, Miss Carnes adds another duty to her already long string as she cops one of the song queen positions. She is a graduate of San Fernando High School and a teacher-to-be.

On the cheer leading side, Miss Sewell has taken a step up; last year she was an alternate. A physical education major and North Hollywood graduate, she also holds down the Executive Council seat of commissioner of social affairs.

Coax Cheers

Attempting to coax loud cheers out of Monarchs will be Miss Harris. She is a major in the business department and was graduated from North Hollywood High School.

Copping the other male position among the yell royalty is Rogers. He is majoring in architecture and holds a diploma from Van Nuys High.

Step Up

Miss Johnson, also stepping up from alternate, rounds out the roster of regular cheer leaders. She is majoring in merchandizing and a graduate of North Hollywood.

Other entrants in the election for song leader were Janet Goldwater, Luana Harrelson, Marty Maxham, Mary Lou Siluva, Esther Susany, Lorna Yoxall, Deborah Denny, Nancy Dudley, Leilani Greenwood, Gloria Cox and Joy Phelps.

Making attempts at yell leading posts were Terri Hall, and Barbara Hearn.

Cultural Group Reveals Plans

Plans announced yesterday by Roy Beaumont, president of the Athenaeum, Valley College's cultural organization, indicate that the college will enjoy its finest year in the fields of cultural and educational entertainment. Outstanding artists, scholars and specialists have promised to take part in the Athenaeum program during the coming year.

Among those tentatively scheduled to appear is S. I. Hayakawa, world-renowned semanticist, whose book "Language in Action" is a classic in its field.

Sister Mary Cortit, will join Ricole Brun and Milford Zorns in presenting an art exhibit in the Valley library. All three are artists with national reputations.

Music lovers will enjoy the appearance of Anne and Sven Reher, who will present a musicale featuring the piano and the violin. Dr. Harold Briggs of the SC English department is scheduled to lecture on the experiences of a professor in Australia.

Donald Click, head of the Atheneaum film department, announced that plans to present a series of foreign films are being completed. It is hoped that one selected foreign feature picture will be available for showing on the Valley campus each month.

Other visitors tentatively booked by the Atheneaum include Mayl Ewig, head of the English department at UCLA Mortimer Adler, philosopher and author and Sidney Gillman, head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Commenting on the Athenaeum program, Baumont stated "We feel that students and residents of the San Fernando Valley can find pleasure and profit from the Anthenaeum program. Culture can be fun."

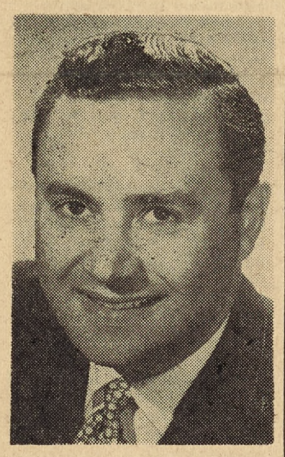
For the third time in less than a year, Gene Norman will present Valley College on his Campus Club program, to be televised on Channel 9, Oct. 12.

Among the Valleyites appearing are John "J. C." Knowlton Associated Students' President.



GENE NORMAN

who will be interviewed by Norman.

"The public is invited to attend and students may obtain tickets at Dean Nena Royer's office," said Jack Yost, commissioner of activities who is in charge of the affair. "The address of KHJ-TV is 1313 Vine St., corners Fountain and Vine streets. This location is three blocks north of Santa Monica boulevard and three blocks south of Sunset boulevard. Students wishing to attend are requested to arrive no later than 4 p.m."

Clubhouse for Faculty Given Nod

Valley College's faculty will have a place to rest its collective weary bones, Director Walter T. Coultas announced today. The house at the south end of the campus has been designated as a combined lounge and clubhouse for instructors. Renovation of the premises has begun and a committee has been appointed by Harry Beck, faculty president, to formulate rules of procedure and maintainance.

Faculty members interviewed by the Valley Star have been enthusiastic in their comments. Robert Bertholdo, history and law instructor, stated, "This building will meet, in the words of education departments, a felt need. And the feeling is in the desire to sit down after conducting a series of classes."

Mrs. Betty Whitten, English instructor, commented, "This building should do much to encourage the already high morale of the Valley faculty. It will aid in the work of committees and similar functions."

Another important change in faculty housing has been the transfer of the offices of the instructor-counselors to the old admissions building.

Head OK's Final Plans

After six years of hoping, talking and planning, the new Monarchville campus has been decided upon and the architects, Chambers and Hibbard, are now working on the final plans, according to Walter T. Coultas, college director.

Planned as a modern one-story plant, it will be built along a walkway which will extend south parallel to Fulton avenue and curve towards Burbank boulevard. The school is scheduled to cost from eight to ten million dollars when completed, Coultas stated.

Four million dollars will be used for the initial construction as appropriated in the school bond issue passed last April 5. Included is an administration building, a library, which alone will cost $500,000 and a little theatre, complete with central stage laboratory, which will seat 500 people.

Five classroom units and a lighted football field round out the list of structures to be finished first. A cafeteria, a student union and several more classrooms are scheduled for construction at a later date.

Fronting on Fulton, the plant will have its own private driveway separated from Fulton by a landscaped parkway.

"It will take approximately eight months for the architects to complete the plans," Coultas said. "Bids should start coming in by the first of July with construction starting by Sept. 1, 1957. We should be in the buildings by September of 1958," Coultas concluded.

Police to Tag Lot Violators Says Goody

After semesters of talk and threats by the Executive Council and administration and noncooperation by the student body, something has been done about the parking problem, according to Dr. George Goody, faculty parking chairman.

Tomorrow morning, a member of the Los Angeles Police Department will be in the Ethel avenue lots, armed with citations for Monarch parking violators.

According to Goody, the aisle parkers and those parking along the tennis courts are the first targets of police action. Then those parking in faculty and Star lot are to be taken into consideration.

Two attendants will be on duty in the lots during the day session and also at night. Signs have been posted designating "angular parking only."

This is the final warning, said Goody. Those parking in the aisles tomorrow morning will find citations waiting for them when they return to their cars. If the volators persist in aisle parking, the cars will be towed to the police garage and the regular impounding fee charged.

Candid Pics Says Crown

Valley College will score another first if the plans for this year's Crown materialize. This was the impression gathered at the first meeting of the Crown staff held on the Valley campus this week, according to Dr. Arnold Fletcher, advisor.

The 1955-1956 edition of the Crown will feature unposed or candid pictures throughout. This, in the opinion of the Crown staff, will provide a more realistic "slice of life" than the stiffly posed photographs which have featured school annuals since the turn of the century.

Obviously this approach will present problems," Fletcher said. "Beauty will be sacrificed for reality; embarassing action will sometimes take the place of posed placidity. But, the Crown staff believes, the 1955-1956 Crown will possess a tone of motion and stimulating vitality," he added.

Classes Meeting to Elect Officers

Each and every class, from alphas to deltas, have scheduled meetings today at 11 a.m. The purpose is to elect officers and submit candidates for the Homecoming queen contest.

Alpha are to go to Monarch Bowl; betas, room 41; gammas, room 53 and deltas, room 54.

Dixie Carnes Heads College Homecoming

If preparation makes an event, Valley College's annual Homecoming promises to be unprecedented in local school pageantry. The Inter Organization Council, with chairman Dixie Carnes taking the reins, has long begun preparation for the two day festival on Oct. 14 and 15.

A show with several big-name entertainers has been lined up for Friday to be followed by a dance the same night featuring Marshall Cram's band. Saturday will be the Homecoming game with the Monarchs meeting Bakersfield Junior College on Van Nuys' Smith Field.

Candidates for queen of the festivities will begin campaigning as early as Oct. 5 when they appear on the Monarch version of the Gene Norman Show, Channel 9 at 5:00 p.m. Following tradition, each recognized club on campus will sponsor a regal hopeful.

After two weeks of campaigning, elections will be held to determine Miss Valley College. Day students will go to the polls on Oct. 12 and 13 while night students cast their ballots on October 12.

A queen and her runner-up princesses will be named on Oct. 15 during the show at Monarch Bowl. The candidate will line the stage during the hour-long show until the announcement is made. From there, the Homecoming queen will preside over the dance tentatively scheduled to begin at 9:30 p.m. Featured vocalists Lucy Ann Polk and Phil Hamilton will accompany Marshall Cramm's instrumental group.

The night of Valley's Homecoming Metropolitan Conference grid clash, the newly-crowned queen will arrive at the field in a convertible and remain seated during the game on a platform near the playing area. Local merchants will present gifts to Miss Valley during the halftime intermission.

NOW THE TEARS . . .

No relief. So tomorrow the police will be here to deal with parking violators—with citations. If this doesn't wake up the evidently dormant students, nothing will.

Warnings threats, suggestions and final warnings and threats have been issued. None have been heeded. Now action is being taken.

Parking committee chairman Dr. George Goody has plastered the campus with bulletins, teachers have harped on the subject until it is harped out, the Star has published the rules and ultimatiums. The students have paid no attention.

There is no excuse for disregarding the traffic rules set up by the parking committee. The parking lots are big, adequate to take care of every car. But they are not so big that it would hurt a student to walk from a legal parking space in the middle of the lot to his class. You students don't seem to agree with this.

You don't seem to realize that the lots provided you are a privilege. It isn't compulsory for the school to set up parking lots. At many campuses, no facilities are allotted the students. In some cases several blocks must be walked to class, not several yards as on the Valley College campus.

It is pretty bad when outside forces such as the police must be called in to cope with a campus problem. It looks bad for the school. It looks worse for the students.

One of the main advantages of a college is supposed to be preparing the student to "take his place in society." Cooperation, obedience of civic laws and courtesy are all allegedly part of this "taking his place." Through student government, with student representation, this is supposedly taught. By allowing the student body to solve its own problems the individuals are assumed to acquire these traits.

Evidently not here. Here the student will take all he can get, but give nothing. When he asked to eat the free food on Monarch Day or go to the free dance, he is more than willing. But when he is asked to cooperate in solving a giant size problem, if it requires a little effort, he refuses.

So tomorrow, each and every parking violator will find a ticket on his windshield. There should be not one gripe. You, the students, asked for it. You were pleaded with. You were asked nicely. You were warned. You were threatened. Now you will cry, but no one will sympathize with you. —D.W.

MAKE OR BREAK . . .

Monday and Tuesday of this week, elections were held to choose the song and cheer leaders for the school year. Ten people were selected to hold posts which, especially during football season, are among the most important on campus.

These students must realize their responsibilities. They can make or break the reputation of the school, as well as the season record of the team.

A school is judged largely by its support of athletic events. These are the few chances other colleges have to view the student body of a school, to decide whether it is good or bad. Many contend that athletics, especially football, are overemphasized in colleges. Others say they are not. But regardless of the opinion, all admit that student support of athletics is important.

It is the duty of the song and cheer leaders to assure Valley College's teams of this support. It is their duty to organize the students into a rooting section that will well represent the Monarchs.

A team can lose by a fantastic score, but if the rooters are united and in abundance, the loss is not so great. Instead of merely shouting loudly and strongly about their victory, the winners are likely to add, "But their rooting section was terrific."

The team depends a lot on student support. When the stands are filled, it gives the players something to win for. It proves to them that someone wants them to win, has faith in them.

Last year, as football season wore on, the rooting section grew smaller and smaller. So did the group of cheer and song leaders in front of the stands.

One cheer leader ran for her post, got it and only turned out for one or two games. Another, at basketball games, sat on the sidelines, not even making an attempt to lead cheers.

Right now there is a lot of enthusiasm among the students. The football team looks good and the students are ready to support it. New song and cheer leaders, don't allow the student body to lose their spirit. Be there at every game; make sure that Valley gives every support possible to its athletic teams. —D.W.

CLUBS RESPONSIBLE . . .

With Homecoming in the near future, campus clubs and organizations become a very important part of Valley College. The entire success of this venture depends on the clubs.

Clubs are organized to permit students, who would otherwise be omitted to take part in campus activities. The Executive Council can hold only a few students; there is no limit to the possible club memberships.

Through the Inter Organization Council, the clubs are united; are permitted to work together on the main events of the school year, Homecoming in the fall and the Fiesta in the spring.

If these occasions are to be successes, the clubs must participate. They are IOC activities and are responsibilities of the member clubs.

Each organization on campus is automatically a member of the IOC, unless disqualified by the other members for non-attendance at meetings, and should have a representative at the Tuesday meetings.

For the last year, the IOC has been all but a burden on the campus. The only reason that can be given for this is non-interest on the part of the clubs.

Homecoming, this year, can be a big event. Judging by the plans made so far, it should be. But if clubs fail to cooperate and do their part, it will fall, just as other IOC ventures have in the past. —D.W.

No tears now, boy, it's only a ticket . . . I autographed it personally for you!

Art Department Presents Impressive Exhibit by Immaculate Heart Talent

An impressive exhibit of silk screen work by Immaculate Heart College's nationally-known art department is now on display in room 65, according to Miss Marie Scott, head of Valley College's art department. The exhibit is open to all students of Valley from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"Immaculate Heart College's art department has received national recognition for impressive work in the field of modern art," Miss Scott stated. "Sister Magdalen Mary, Sister Mary Corita and Dr. Alois J. Schandt have done a magnificent job as this exhibit clearly demonstrates."

Silk Screening

"It is indeed interesting," Miss Scott continued, "to note the great depth of color produced by the technique of silk screeening. And it is also noteworthy that the overlay of color in this modern process gives a very similar effect to the early Christian art, especially that of the beautiful stained glass techniques of medieval cathredals."

Immaculate Heart College recently received a full page spread in Collier's Magazine which incorporated color reproductions of some of these prints.

Build Past

At the time, Sister Magdalen Mary was quoted as follows: "A sense of the past is valuable cultural equipment. A sense of the present is the only thing which can ever build a past worth remembering."

In addition to the exhibit now on view at Valley's art department, selections from the exhibit will be shown at the college library according to Mrs. June Biermann, librarian.

First in Series

This current exhibit is only the first in a series of similar features culminating in the Valley art exhibit to be held in the spring.

Valley students are urged by the art instructors to take advantage of the cultural and educational opportunities available through the simple process of walking to the northeast corner of the campus.

Crown Dramatist Select Initial Fall Offering; Comedy

Casting is now in progress for the Crown Players' first production of the semester, according to Bob E. Davis, department advisor. The comedy "Blythe Spirit" has been chosen by the students for this presentation.

The play is scheduled to open Oct. 28 in the college Little Theater and run until Nov. 5. Cecil Reos is acting as production manager, while the rest of the cast will be known this week.

The play is set in England and concerns ghosts with haunting on their minds and other ghosts with murder on their minds. According to the actors, it is all very complicated—and very funny.

Tickets for the play may be obtained in the college book store or at the door for one dollar per person, according to Davis. Season tickets are being offered, allowing the student to view four plays for the price of three. These may be found in the store, also.

In addition to the full-length plays presented each term, students enrolled in theater arts laboratory produce seven one-act ventures. Each scheduled to run two days, the first is on the calendar for Nov. 8 and 9.

Food Served Soon in Union

Food will be served for students in the student union within a week or ten days, according to Harold V. Cole, cafeteria head.

They will begin serving at 8:30 a.m., the same time as the present cafeteria and will serve continuously until 2 p.m. With both cafeterias open, the present difficulties such as long lines and slow service should be somewhat relieved, Cole said.

The new cafeteria will seat approximately one hundred students, a few more than the present cafeteria does.

Cole is also going to try to keep the hash lines open continously from seven in the morning until ten at night, or through the completion of night school. The hash lines at present remain open until 3 p.m. and then close until night school commences.

"This will give the students a better break," Cole stated. "Students arriving early for night school, or staying late from day school will be given the opportunity to get a cup of coffee or a sandwich if they want to."

Radio Actors Plan Dramatic Show

Radio KVJC, the college station, has so far confined its activity to news broadcasts, but Mrs. Frances Economides, department head, says that next week her advanced class will begin casting for a show.

The first news broadcast of this year was made by Fred Litsinger. These broadcasts will continue through the semester with long broadcasts on Tuesday and Thursday and short editions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Any items or suggestions may be submitted to KVJC, according to Mrs. Economides. But they must be typed or neatly written and in the mail slot of room 55 by 8:30 a.m. of the day the announcement is to be made. If the announcement is to be repeated note it on the form and how long it is to be run.

College Coed Becomes U.S. Citizen Friday

Friday was a big day in the life of a flashing eyed, bright smiled Monarch. That was the day Mina Martinez became a citizen of the United States.

Born in Mexico City 21 years ago, Miss Martinez has lived in this country eight and a half years.

When she first came to Van Nuys, she spoke no English. So she enrolled in an English class at night school and, with the help of friends, learned the fluent English she speaks today.

MINA MARTINEZ
New Citizen

Graduating from Van Nuys High School in 1954, Miss Martinez came to Valley College where she is majoring in Spanish.

Upon her graduation, she plans to attend either SC or UCLA and then spend a year or two studying at the University of Mexico.

The new citizen filed her application in May and was sworn in last Friday. Besides her little sister who was born in California, she is the only member of her family who is an American citizen.

When asked what it feels like to be a citizen of this country, Miss Martinez replied, "It feels wonderful!"

Lounge Opened; Rules Announced

Offering a place for students to meet and study, the lounge will soon be reopened, according to Sara Durozo, recreational director.

Rules have been set up regulating behavior in this building. They are as follows:

1. No eating.
2. No card playing.
3. No gambling.
4. No feet on the furniture.
5. No excess niose or rowdyism.
6. Use ashtrays.

Parking. How sick I am getting of that word—especially when it has the word "p r o b l e m" tacked on the end of it.

Every semester the college g o e s through the same thing. This term it should have been different. The lots are improved and there is enough room for everyone.

This semester, though, it is different, in one respect. Action, thanks to parking chairman Dr. George Goody and Los Angeles Police Department, is being taken.

I sincerely hope that this is the last time the parking situation is mentioned in the news or editorial columns of the Valley Star. Except, maybe, to state that it has been filed away under the label "solved."

All honors should go to Bill Tarantino, co-chairman of the election committee. Never did this columnist pass the polls during the song and cheer leader elections, but Bill was there, passing out ballots and punching cards.

He and his crew of workers were on campus from 3 p.m. Tuesday when the polls closed until almost 7 that evening, counting and tallying votes. If every student worked as hard as Tarantino, well . . .

Glad to see the great turnout for the first football game of the season last Saturday night against San Mateo. Glad also to see the 39-6 score.

The cheer leaders would like to wear Bermudas at the games. There is no reason why they shouldn't be allowed to; Bermuda shorts are accepted attire on all college campuses. But they can't. It seems strange that when these students do so much work and exert so much energy that they shouldn't be able to decide what they will wear when they appear before the stands.

The happy group then attended the Valley game to cheer the Monarchs on to victory. The evening was brought to a magnificent end at a party held at the home of Kenny Hall.

Campus Band Escorts Team

This year the Valley College band, under the direction of Lauren Rhoades, will travel to every game with the football team.

The band is currently working on new selections for the Monarch rooting section. Chartered busses will carry the band to the Long Beach, Santa Monica and Harbor games and a section on the rooter's train will be reserved for the group for the San Diego game.

The band now consists of twenty members. According to Rhoades, there are still a number of vacancies in the group.

The class meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10 a. m. Interested students should contact Rhoades. Special arrangements will be made in case of a schedule conflict.

Green jackets and white slacks will again be the uniform of the college band.

Villa Sponsors Rooters' Train

Once again Valley College will have a reserved rooters train for the game in San Diego on Oct. 29. This will be the third time Valley has sponsored a trip of this kind.

The train will include a baggage car where the band will furnish music for dancing Monarchs. The fare for this trip is $4.68, round trip, including tax.

The train will leave Los Angeles Union Station at 9 a.m. and arrive in San Diego at 12 noon.

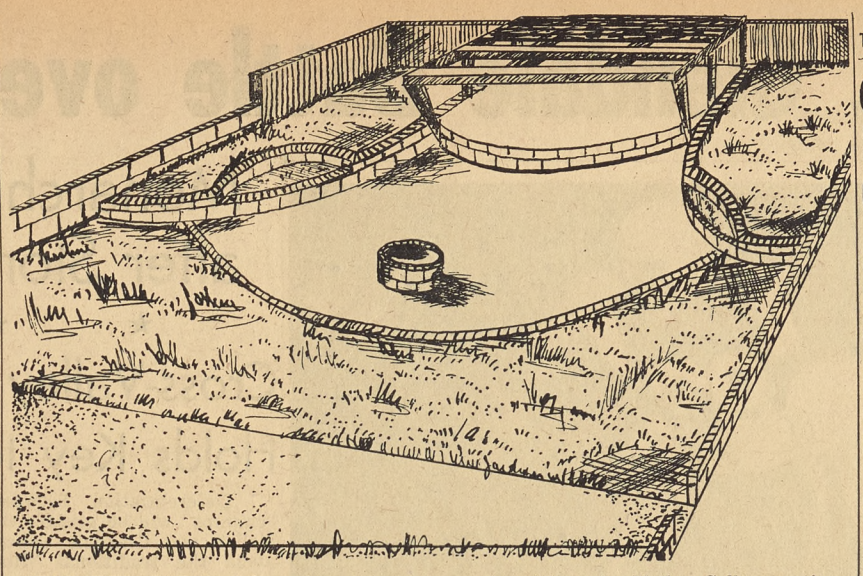
According to Angelo Villa, sponsor and founder of the trip, tickets will be on sale in the student store. A group of over 500 is expected to make the trip this year. Tickets are available for students, alumni and friends.

Knights Announce Thursday Meeting

The first regular meeting of the Knights of Circle K will be held next Thursday at 11 a.m. in room 54.

The meeting, under the direction of Lynn Fitagerald, president, will be to discuss the coming activities of the group for this semester.

John L. Reiter, the new advisor for the group, announced that the Knights are a men's service club. It is patterned after the principles and objectives of Kiwanis International and is sponsored by the Van Nuys Kiwanis Club.



FINISHED SOON—After almost two years of waiting, the Valley College patio is scheduled to be completed in the near future. The plans include a dance pavillion, barbecue pit and lawn furniture. Soon after Christmas, according to Director Walter T. Coultas, the first campus activities will be held here.

College Patio Ready for Activities Soon

After almost two years of planning, meetings and discussion, excavation of the ground began last Wednesday of the campus patio.

According to Walter Coultas, director of Valley College, it won't be long before the patio will be ready for use. The first installment in the patio will be the sprinkler system. As soon as the lawn has been planted and has had a chance to grow, the walkways will be added to the site.

In order to obtain furniture for the patio, the Executive Council will sponsor activities to raise funds. The desired furniture for the patio is metal tables and chairs with sun shades.

The next project on the agenda is completion of the barbecue pit. Said Coultas, "I'm sure this will add a great deal to our campus."

The student committee in 1953 began discussing plans for the desired patio. Dr. Vierling Kersey, retired director of Valley secured approval from the Board of Education to make the patio a permanent part of the college campus.

Valley, Glendale Battle over Horse Collar

Monarchs Take on Vaqueros after Stomping San Mateo

Cross-Valley Struggle Holds Key to 'Trophy'

Deferentiation between the 'champs" and the "chumps" will be greater than ever tonight as both the Valley and Glendale College grid squads scramble to avoid the traditional "Horse Collar." Presently the uncoveted trophy is in the possession of the Vaqueros by virtue of the Monarch's 14-13 win of last year.

Originally the idea was cooked up by the gang from Foothill boulevard back in 1952. It would have been just dandy, except the inventors got stuck with the "prize" when the Monarchs hung a 14-6 defeat around their necks, along with the horse-collar.

Tonight's cross-valley tussel stands as the rubber match of a see-saw rivalry dating back to 1950. Valley has topped the win column twice, while Glendale boasts three victories.

During the first two years of the competition, the Vaqueros' Bob Murphy led the way to the 1950 and 1951 victories by respective scores of 27-0 and 25-0. The 195-pound fullback tallied two touchdowns in each of the tilts.

The year 1952 proved to be the turning point in the Glendale dominance as Rommie Loudd, Hardiman Cureton and crew squeezed out a 14-6 triumph in the final seconds of the game. Lineman Jimmy Quinn blocked an attempted field goal try and raced 74 yards for the winning score.

Headed by the phenominal passing of Curt Clinite, the Vaqueros returned the compliment and the horse-collar to the Valley campus wrapped up in a 13-7 deficit in 1953.

Last year the green and golders restored the abomination to its originators with a tense 14-13 decision. Naturally they hope to turn the trick again this year with a win tonight over the formidable Glendalers.

By BILL MCPEAK and WARD ROBBINS

Clear weather is forecast for the Valley tonight, but in all probability it will be raining in Glendale . . . raining footballs. With the famed Horse Collar trophy at stake, two air-minded grid clubs, Valley College and Glendale City College, clash at Glendale High School in an 8 p.m. tilt.

Sparking the Vaqueros tonight will be letterman quarterback Jan Lloyd. Working from the T-formation, Lloyd is a passing specialist and against Fullerton last week completed 13 out of 28 tosses for 243 yards and three touchdowns.

Fullerton, incidentally, took the nod from the Glendale eleven in a 33-27 battle. At the same time Valley was easily rolling past San Mateo, 39-6.

Working in the backfield along with Lloyd are running aces Bob Crane, Jim Smith, Maurice Ellis, Bob McCalmont and Jim Hendershot.

Across the line Coach Bill Reinhard will probably open with John Haines (who caught two TD passes) and John Cannely at ends; Andy Brennan and Hal Schifferle at tackles; Tom May and Percy Turner at guards and Gerry Gambatese at center.

For Valley at ends are Larry Meyers (who grabbed a pair of passes from Dave Tanner for touchdowns) and Don Voyne; at tackles Don Nelson and Al Adelini: Dave Smith and Bob King at guards and Ron Brown at center.

Adelini, King and Brown were all changes in the starting line-up.

At quarterback Hunt plans to open with Tanner, who passed to three touchdowns last week, with Dick Windham and Tommy Uyeda starting at the halves. Carl Ketchie opens at fullback.

Last Saturday Hunt's Monarchs displayed the results of weeks of rigorous practice to win against San Mateo, as they flooded the Bulldogs with a hailstone of points to emerge victorious at Van Nuys High before approximately 3000 fans.

The green and gold eleven scored the first time it took possession of the ball, with Valley quarterback Dave Tanner hurling 22 yards to end Larry Myers, who carried the pigskin into the end-zone. The Tanner and Myers combination paid off again as Myers scored the second touchdown for Valley.

Jack Lyons, Valley fullback, ricocheted off a Bulldog guard to sprint 19 yards for the third Monarch mark.

San Mateo made their bid for six points as Bulldog quarterback Manuel Escalara, upon completing seven passes for 56 yards, took to the air again to Gordon Lewis for their only score of the evening.

The Valley gridders scored their fourth touchdown when Fred Gillette crashed through the Bulldog line for six points and then kicked for the first extra point in the game. Carl Ketchie teamed up with Tanner for the next score for Valley as he ran wild for 37 yards to pay dirt. Gillette again converted successfully.

The final tally of the evening came when Mike Mersola intercepted a Bulldog pass and swiftly strode between the goal posts. Ron Shaheen made the final conversion for the Monarchs.

PLAY on WORDS

by Bill McPeak

Tonight? That is the question. Will the Monarchs repeat their slaughterous action against Glendale tonight as they did against the San Mateo Bulldogs last Saturday? If you read the Grid Guessin' corner, you will see where the sports staff and a guest guesser are putting their dough.

It was rather gratifying to attend an opening college football contest and have to strain the orbs in an effort to find a parking space for the posterior. Such was the case at the Monarch grid opener against College of San Mateo last Saturday night, when the green and gold eleven pock-marked the Bulldogs defense with a score of 39-6 before a crowd of approximately 3000 fans.

It is interesting to note that in the Valley-San Mateo game last Saturday, three school records were broken. Tackle Bill Atkins punted the pigskin for a net distance of 55 yards, breaking Don Shinnick's effort of 53 yards against Santa Monica in 1953 to break the punt yardage netted record. In the single games record department, the Monarchs shattered the "most points scored" record (35 points scored against Taft in 1953) by scoring 39 digits against CSM. The "widest margin of victory" record was broken when the green and gold eleven pushed the score to 9-6 last Saturday, to put an end to the old mark of 35-3 against Taft in 1953.

The big exam will be against Glendale tonight.

*Guest grid guesser for this week is junior varsity football coach E. Y. Johnson. Johnson is also athletic director of Valley and serves as trainer for the Monarch varsity.

JV Gridders Tally One Win; Prepare for More

Almost to be, but never forgotten on Valley College campus is the junior varsity football squad. With one game already under their belts, Coach E. Y. Johnson's gridders are ready to meet all comers on their make-shift schedule.

Last Monday they tussled with a strong Los Angeles City College eleven. A schedule that is enlarging progressively finds them meeting El Camino on Oct. 31 and again on Nov. 14, plus a Nov. 21 tilt with Compton.

Formed mostly of varsity understudies, the JV's do not play a regular league schedule. Many of these stalwarts are gaining valuable game experience, however, that should aid varsity mentor, Al Hunt, next year.

The green and gold juniors this season feature an array of talent which will probably also see considerable varsity action also. Top JV men are tackles Allen Weiss and John Love, guards Paul Breniman and Floyd Coverston and halfback Duffy Hambleton.

Weiss, a 248 pound giant, played his football at North Hollywood while Love, 196, cavorted at John Burroughs. Paul Breniman, 155, was a standout for Canoga Park last year at tackle while Coverston earned all-Northern League honors at Verdugo Hills. Hailing from North Hollywood, Hambleton was a great attributing factor for much of the Huskies' success last year.

Filling out the limited roster are Dick Mathews and Ron Brown, tackles; Jerry Martinez, Angelo De Felice and Howard Garber at guards; ends Whiteside and Wilder and backs John Link and Paul Ambul.

Fencers Hold Second Meet Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow night, at 8 p.m., the Amateur Fencer's League of America will hold their second Southern California championship meet on the Monarch campus in the women's gym.

The AFLA meet is for novice men's foil class and will host such fencing clubs as the Pasadena YMCA, Faulkner's School of Fencing, the LA Athletic Club, Salle Vince, Mori School, the Dragons and Salle Cavalliers.

The meet is being sponsored by the campus French Club, Lapin Agile. This club is under the advisorship of John Tatum, French instructor. Tatum is well qualified for this position as he has been a fencing master for a number of years.

Tatum first learning the art of fencing at the LA Athletic Club, continued his fencing practice at UCLA, where he was captain of the Bruin fencing team for two years.

From UCLA, he went to France where he won the University Championship in the foil and was a member of the five man team that won the Championship of Paris in the epee (dueling sword.)

While in France, Tatum entered the National Championsip open of France and placed eighth in the finals. After returning to the United States, he coached the fencing team at LACC for six years prior to coming to Valley in the capacity of French instructor.

The art of fencing is a sport that calls for quickness, agility, patience and first-rate physical condition rather than strength alone, and for this reason it is one in which feminine competitors often excel and display great skill, according to authorities.

CC Running Stars Return

Preparing for the first meet of the season, the Monarch cross country team is practicing under the leadership of Coach Charlie Mann. With two returning lettermen and a host of new talent in this field, the green and gold distance men will pit their leatherlike lungs against Glendale City College on the Glendale home grounds Oct. 6, at 3:30 p.m.

Lettermen Clarence Alspaugh and Earl Holzhauer head the Valley roster, with Tom Meese, Mike Reed, William Sudds, and Derryl Athons as they run for the first time this year.

After the practice meet with Glendale, the Monarchs face a tough schedule as they go against Santa Monica, there, on Oct. 9. They perform against El Camino on Oct. 21 and battle Long Beach at Valley Oct. 25.

LINEMAN of the Week

BOB BINDER
First String Center

Picked as "lineman of the week" is first string center on the Monarch eleven, Bob Binder. A Physical Education major, Binder is in his second year at Valley College and is currently the president of the Associated Men Students. While a student at North Hollywood High School, he was All-Valley center in 1946. He also played football for four years in the Air Force. A former student of the University of Houston, Binder is six feet, and dents the scales at 215 lbs.

He earned the title of "lineman of the week" as a result of his performance in the Valley-San Mateo grid contest held last Saturday at Van Nuys High School, where the Monarchs trounced the Bulldogs 39-6.
